How to Access Your Mental Health Benefits

HOW TO ACCESS YOUR MENTAL HEALTH BENEFITS

STEP 1

Option A

Start with your insurance provider

1. On the back of your insurance card find the "mental health/substance abuse" phone number. If this number is not on your insurance card, then call the "customer service" phone number.
2. Follow the telephone prompts, select "benefit information" or ask for "representative."
3. Ask the representative about your Mental Health coverage, and out-of-pocket costs.
4. Inform representative reasons for seeking therapist/psychiatrist, i.e., anxiety, divorce, depression
5. Ask them to please provide you with at least three in-network therapists/psychiatrists that meet your criteria. Make sure to write down the names, addresses and phone numbers.

Option B

Log into your insurer's online portal. Most insurance company's portals will allow you to search for therapists/psychiatrists in-network. You will be able print out a provider list.

STEP 2

With your list of potential therapists/psychiatrist

1. Call or email their offices to confirm that they continue to accept your insurance, ask if they are accepting new patients for therapy, psychiatry or both.
2. Some therapists offer a free 15-minute consultation. Schedule a consultation.
3. Other factors to consider when choosing a therapist/psychiatrist; convenient location, hours of availability, and experience with treating others with similar condition to yours.
4. Let them know if you have a preference in providers, i.e., male or female, ethnicity, etc.
5. Schedule your first appointment.

STEP 3

For continuity of care, notify your Primary Care Provider's office of your new therapist and/or psychiatrist. The office staff can add your therapist to your Care Team.

GED (General Equivalency Degree)

Improving your reading and math skills may increase your chances of getting a job. If you did not finish high school, your first step is to work toward a GED. A GED is a certificate for people who did not finish high school and do not have a high school diploma. In order to get a GED, you will need to pass a GED test. There are free community programs that will help you study to improve your skills so that you can earn your GED. Below are some free community programs, but Michigan 2-1-1 will have a complete list in your area.

Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) Youth Program: ages 14-24

WIOA Youth programs are operated on a year-round basis by local Michigan Works! Agencies (MWAs). Available services include tutoring, study skills training, alternative secondary school offerings, dropout recovery services, paid and unpaid work experiences, including summer employment opportunities, occupational skills training, education offered concurrently with workforce preparation, leadership development opportunities, supportive services, adult mentoring, follow-up services, comprehensive guidance and counseling, financial literacy education, entrepreneurial skills training, provision of labor market and employment information, and activities that help youth prepare for, and transition to, post-secondary education and training.

WIOA Adult Program

The local Michigan Works! Agencies (MWAs) operate adult programs on a year-round basis. The funds allocated to the MWAs for the adult program must be used to support core, intensive, and training services. An individual must be 18 years of age or older, a U.S. citizen or eligible non-citizen and registered with Selective Service (if applicable) to receive services under the adult program.

Understanding different continuing education options:

There are many continuing education and training options to choose from. Traditional college is not for everyone and often other alternatives offer a better opportunity. Sometimes people do best building on successful experiences that lead to more challenging opportunities. Other times it is best to combine options like participating in an apprenticeship and going to college at the same time or participating in a vocational training program while working part time.

Certificate Programs: prepare you for entry-level jobs in a professional environment. Certificates provide training and/or education beyond high school to prepare for a specific occupation. Completion time depends upon the requirements of the specific program. Usually, 30 hours of credit are taken at a community college in a specific area; i.e., machine tooling, early childhood education, fire science.

On-the-Job Training (OJT): An employer provides hands-on training in a workplace and is reimbursed directly or by a third party for providing training. Examples of OJT are: food service training by working in a restaurant or clerical training by working in an office.

Apprenticeship: Combination of on-the-job training and related trade instruction sanctioned by a union or the Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training. Examples are: computer programmer, dispensing optician, electrician, firefighter.

Vocational Training Program: Specific job skills are acquired through training in specific vocational areas. Students usually do not earn college credit in these training programs but often earn certifications. Examples are: HVAC (heating, ventilation, air conditioning), dog grooming, cosmetology.

Associate Degrees (community college): Planned college program requiring at least 62 hours of credit. In addition to coursework required for the chosen occupation, students are required to take classes in social science, humanities, and science. College-level English and math are usually required.

Bachelor's Degrees: A bachelor's degree program Bachelor of Arts (B.A.), a Bachelor of Science, (B.S.) or Bachelor of Fine Arts (B.F.A.) is generally completed four to six years after receiving a high school diploma or GED. Approximately 130 credit hours are earned; the first year or so in general subjects including English, math, history, language, logic, computers, and science; and then specific courses to prepare the individual for a chosen career.
